

IN KOREA

Ground action along the 155-mile battlefront dropped to a near halt Tuesday. Only scattered patrol actions were fought against small enemy groups along the front.

Allied fighter-bombers were hampered in their continuous pounding of possible Red build up areas by low-hanging clouds that cut down visibility. American Sabre Jets patrolled northwest Korean skies but found no Communist MIG-15s.

President Truman has ruled that Britain, France and Italy will get continued economic and military aid despite their shipment of strategic materials to Communist countries. Mr. Truman said that contracts for the shipments were made before the law was enacted. He also emphasized that none of the deals involved arms, ammunition, implements of war, or atomic energy materials.

GENEROUS 'G'

"George" Company of the BUFALCO Regiment recently contributed nearly $75 to enable the wife of a hospitalized ROK member of the unit to stay by her husband's bedside.

PFC Chung Yung Doo, gunner in a 60mm mortar squad, had not seen or heard from his wife in many months. When the veteran of 22 months service with the BUFALCOES became a patient at the 64th Field Hospital, his wife was notified. The young mother left the couple's two children with friends in Pusan and immediately came to see her despondent husband.

Upon her arrival Mrs. Chung was met by M/Sgt. George Romine, George Company 4th platoon sergeant. "She broke into tears when I told her about her husband," he recalled.

Sergeant Romine, aware of the young couple's needs, explained the situation to the NCOs of the unit. They in turn told their men who took up a collection for the young Korean couple.

SPORTS

The United Press Board of Coaches stood pat on the top five college basketball teams yesterday, rating Illinois and LaSalle 1-2 for the fourth straight week even though both were upset last week.

Kansas State, Washington and Seton Hall, occupying the next three places in that order, all gained ground on the two leaders as the race for national honors tightened.

The 35 leading coaches who make up the UP rating board selected this week's top ten from among the same teams as last week, with a few modifications in placings. Minnesota made the biggest advance among the top ten, jumping from ninth to sixth place. Oklahoma A&M, Indiana, North Carolina State and Holy Cross rounded out the first ten.

UCLA just missed a place among the top ten while Tulsa was 12th and Notre Dame 13th. St. Bonaventure came next, followed by DePaul, Navy, Michigan State, Brigham Young and Fordham. LSU and St. Louis University were tied for the 20th slot.

The stage is set for Australian tennis stars Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor to make their professional debut in Los Angeles on January 6th followed by a United States tour.

Jack Kramer, the United States professional star, confirmed yesterday he has offered Sedgman a guarantee of $75,000 and McGregor $25,000 to make the tour with him and Pancho Segura.

The announcement that the University of Santa Clara, long one of the country's leading football schools, has dropped out of the intercollegiate gridiron sport because of financial losses, completely surprised Santa Clara's football players, many of the school officials and legions of Bronco fans who had been told only last month that the University would not give up the sport.

CONTRIBUTION----

According to WOJB Robert Farson, unit administrator, the money will enable Mrs. Chung to pay her expenses while she stays near her husband.

"George Company is providing plenty of competition for Mrs. Chung," added Mr. Farson. "There have been at least 30 men from our unit who have visited her husband since he was hospitalized."
